April 7, 2022

Spring is here and the warm weather is working to show its face as well. It's clean-up time – inside and outside -- so let us help you determine what goes where. A good place to start is by checking our brochure online on the web page for the recycling center. See the scale house attendant for items outside of normal household garbage. While on the subject of cleaning out, volunteers are need for the Still Good Shed, so please contact Sandy LaFleur at strumma@aol.com for more information.

ATTENTION; New red stickers are now available (see attendant)! Vehicle registration is required for recording your information. A new sticker will be given only to the vehicle that is present. Please apply the new sticker before leaving; we can also help you remove the old sticker.

Mark your calendar:

Household Hazardous Waste Collection Day will soon be here. It will be held on Sunday June 26, 2022 from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. The flyer is now available online and will soon be available as handouts at the recycling center. If possible, please print it out, READ and fill out the form on the back page. Forms will be collected on that day. You must have a NEW RED STICKER ON your vehicle to participate. This event will be set up the same as last year's event.

NEWS: Smoke alarms – a limit of 2 at the cost of one unit = $45. Other options are available -- see attendant on another day for information. No stickers will be given on that day and no trash will be accepted.

A few refreshers:

- See scale house attendant for items for the landfill containers. Fees may apply. You must go all the way around to weigh-out on the scale. This is a one way driveway.
- Fees apply to all electronics (see scale house attendant).
- All fluids must be drained from items for the metal container.
- We cannot take contaminated used oil – bring it to the Hazardous Waste Collection Day.
- Please do not enter the facility when the CLOSED and No Trespassing signs are showing at the gate.
